"Conflict Prevention and Human Security in Africa: The Case of Darfur"

アフリカにおける紛争予防と人間の安全保障~ダルフールの事例

Dr. Hussein Solomon

Despite the fact that the carnage in Darfur has occupied policy-makers, academic and NGOs throughout the world, there has been no let-up in the killings, the systematic rape and the ethnic cleansing of whole villages.

What this paper will do is to explain why preventive diplomacy and peacekeeping efforts have failed to resolve the problem in Sudan. It is based on empirical research conducted by the speaker during May and June 2007 in Sudan. Whilst providing an overview of the origins of the conflict and its current trajectory, the paper will conclude with concrete recommendations firmly contextualized within the human security paradigm to end the conflict.

フセイン・ソロモン氏は、南アフリカ・プ レトリア大学国際政治研究センター長、同 大政治学科准教授。アフリカの紛争解決、 移民問題、南アフリカの外交政策、国連改 革、宗教的「原理主義」などについて業績 が多く、今回はスーダンのダルフール問題 について、人間の安全保障の視点からお話 いただきます。

Dr. Hussein Solomon lectures in the Department of Political Sciences, University of Pretoria, and is also Director of the Centre for International Political Studies. He has written extensively on conflict resolution and migration in Africa, South African foreign policy, the reform of the United Nations, religious fundamentalism, etc.
